

Businesses from across the spectrum support the adoption of national energy and climate legislation

American Businesses for Clean Energy (ABCE) has compiled a comprehensive list of more than 6,000 companies that support clean energy and climate legislation. Many are part of the We Can Lead network, a nationwide coalition of 1,000 business leaders, innovators, entrepreneurs, investors, manufacturers and energy providers from states across the country who support comprehensive, forward-looking energy and climate policies in the United States. Some are part of formal business organizations like the U.S. Climate Action Partnership, which has been calling for the passage of climate legislation since 2007. Some are companies that have included their logo in a national media advertisement calling for bi-partisan, national clean energy and climate legislation. Many are the large and small businesses that have listed their names on the ABCE website in order to add their names to the fastest-growing list of businesses that support clean energy and climate legislation. And some have done all of these things and more.

For more information on this list, or for media inquiries, please contact Christopher Van Atten, American Businesses for Clean Energy, (978) 369-5533, or chris@americanbusinessforcleanenergy.org.
