

Over 250 South Carolina Businesses Support Energy and Climate Change Legislation

American Businesses for Clean Energy (ABCE) has identified more than 6,000 companies throughout the United States that support clean energy and climate legislation through organizations and initiatives including: (1) We Can Lead; (2) Business for Innovative Climate and Energy Policy (BICEP); (3) the U.S. Climate Action

Partnership (USCAP); (4) Signatories to the American Leadership Ad (Leadership Ad); (5) Pew's Business Environmental Leadership Council (BELC); (6) The Clean Energy Group's Clean Air Policy Initiative (CAPI); and (7) Signatories to two open letters to the U.S. Senate and of course those companies listed with ABCE.

"The time to enact clean energy and climate legislation is now. The U.S. Senate is faced with the decision of whether our country is going to lead, or lag behind, in the global clean energy economy."

--Clare Morris, Director
South Carolina Businesses for Clean Energy

- More than 6,000 companies nationwide support energy and climate legislation
- These companies:
 - employ an estimated 3.5 million U.S. workers
 - have market capitalization exceeding $3.8 trillion
 - generated more than $3.5 trillion in revenue in 2009
 - include 21 Fortune 100 companies and 49 Fortune 500 companies

In South Carolina, 252 companies with over 57,468 employees support clean energy and climate legislation.

Sampling of companies calling for energy and climate legislation with operations in South Carolina:

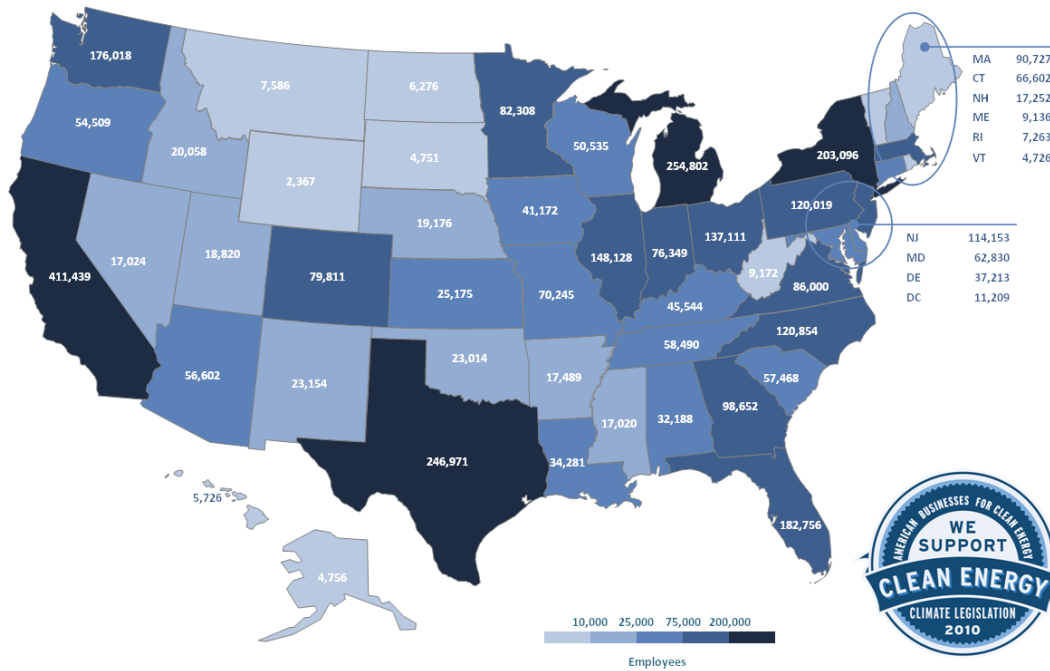

- Lockheed Martin
- Michelin
- GE (General Electric)
- Target
- Citi
- Duke Energy
- Gap Inc.
- Bank of America
- Best Buy
- Pepsico

Nationwide, ABCE has identified over 6,000 companies representing over 3.5 million employees supporting clean energy and climate legislation.

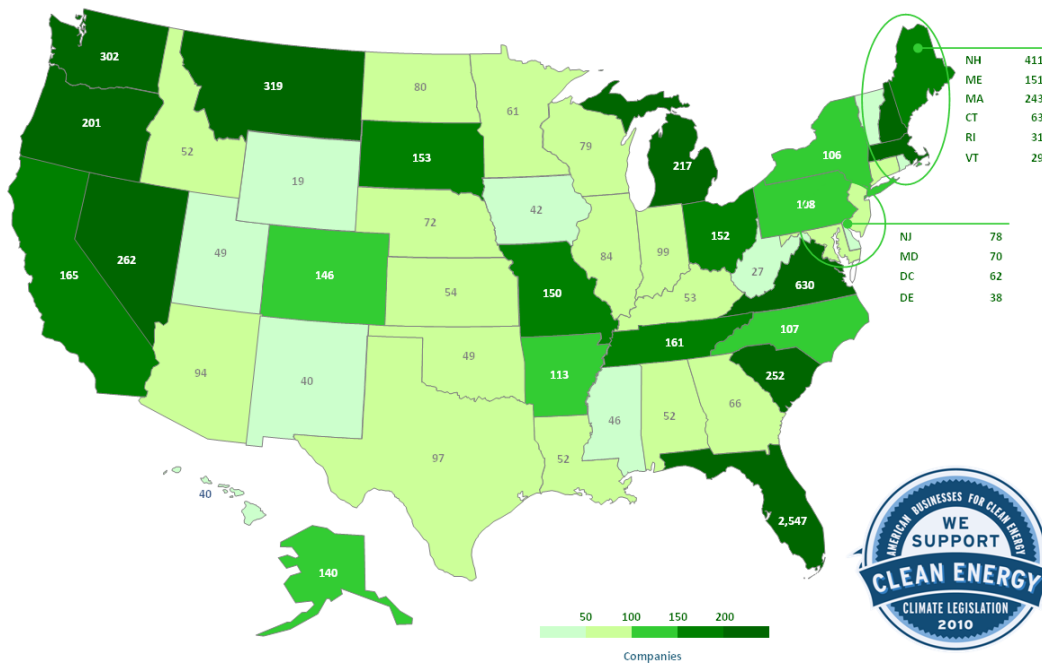

Business Support for Energy and Climate Change Legislation by the Numbers

Estimated employee counts of companies calling on Congress to enact energy and climate legislation

Business Support for Energy and Climate Change Legislation by the Numbers

Number of companies by state calling on Congress to enact energy and climate legislation

For more information, please visit www.abce.us